Fire on Wednesday Destroyed one of Their Warehouses in Louisville.

The Allen-Bradley Co., of this city, lost by fire one of their immense three story brick warehouses at heir Louisville distillery last Wednesday evening. A workman with a lantern was endeavoring to mend a leak in one of the barrels of whisky when the head fell out and the whisky ponred over the lantern and ignited. There were 12,000 barrels of whisky in the warehouse at the time which in the warehouse at the time which was aimost consumed with the building. Both whisky and building were insured, the former valued at $185,000 without the Government tax and belonging to numerous persons in and out the State, and the latter valued at $30,000, and belonging to the distillery company. The entire plant, which is said to be the largest of its kind in the world, was threatened but saved by the splendid work of the fire department. in the warehouse at the time which ened but saved by the splendid work of the fire department.

In the notes on the fire, the Courler-Journal said the following alout Howard Rodman, of this city:

"H. R. Rodman and 'Gip' Webb, two of the cierks in the office, while at work saving books and papers, were for a time imprisoned in the little building by the dense smoke and intense heat, which made egress impossible. When they finally escaped from the office and reached a place of safety they were nearly suffocated."

Messrs. Payne & Berry, insurance agents of this city, place $169,000 of the insurance upon the stock of whisky and warehouse burned.

THE CAPITAL REMOVAL.

The Matter, While Not in Danger Perhaps, Requires Attention.

While not apprehended, after an investigation and consideration of the matter which has so often been agitated and finally settled in favor of Frankfort, that any new or reasonable grounds for the removal of the Capital will now be advanced to give any cause for uneasiness on that any cause for uneasiness on that score, still it is advisable that an orscore, still it is advisable that an or-ganization of the clitizens should be nade and a committe appointed to keep a watchful eye over the threat-ened movement. It can do no harm to be prepared to keep the claims of this city before the Legislature just as other cities, especially Lexingtor and Louisville are now urging by or ganized effort for themseves.

The sensation of the day was the Judge's dismissal of a jury which tried the case of Charles Prochi for allowing minors to play pool on his premises. The testimony, the judge thought, was sflicient to convict the thought, was sflicient to convict the defendant, but when the jury, which was composed of most of the regular panel and a few bystanders, announced they couldn't agree upon a verdict, the judge discharged them and ordered the sheriff to impanel another petit jury for the term. It is plainly the intention of the court to see that the law is enforced, but as the friends of Sheriff Armstrong say, the judge should have appointed jury commissioners at the last term of the court so that a fair and impartial selection of jurors for this term could have been made. The action of the court, however, was action of the court, however, was not intended to reflect on the sheriff, but it is regarded as a timely warning to all who may hinder or obstruct the dispensation of justice. As a confirmation of the Judge's position and condemnation of some of the jury's conduct, Proehl and Dean on yesterday confessed judgement and were fined $100. Some of the jury, who were linea tollo. Some of the jury, who are as; good citizens as there are in the county, say the instructions of court missed them and they were endeavoring to go according to them. They feel that they were very unjustify treated in being so unceremoniously discharged. Afrs. U. Kagin for selling liquur on Sunday also confessed and was head ten dollars.

It is almost certain now that the St. Clair street bridge will soon be nothing more than a memory. The joint committee of the county court and city council agreed at a meeting held Monday night that a new bridge must be erected and at a called meeting of the City Council held on Thursday evening made the following report to that body, which was adopted:

North and South Frankfort, with an iron structure of modern style. The fact that the order of the Secretary of War to raise the bridge carries with it a heavy penalty for non-compliance renders the building of a new bridge a matter of importance that cannot be put aside. It is accessary, however, both because the anoient structure in its decadence should have long ago been replaced by another, and because this city, of all other points on the Kentucky river, for the improvement of which a large appropriation is now rea large appropriation is now re-quested of Congress, should be prompt to remedy the obstacle to navigation complained of by river men and the Secretary of War.

COUNTY COURT DAY.

Fine Weather and an Unusually Large Attendance of Visitors.

The weather on county court day was exceptionally fine and doubtless contributed in no small degree to cause such a large attendance in the city as that which thronged St. Clair and Main streets all that day. The stock sales were fair and not noteworthy, but the sight of eighteen or treaty of the fluest traces acided. worruy, out the sight or eighteen or twenty of the finest trotters, saddle and general farm horses in the coun-ty on exhibition on the streets was an especially uttractive feature to the visitors. The owners of fine stock, it visitors. The owners of fine stock, it is said, intend to make a great display on next county court day, and it is likely that such an attraction will draw a very large number of people to the city from all over the State. These monthly congregations of the citizens of the county, though fast disappearing in many counties in the State, should not be discouraged. They tend to bring the people of the city into closer touch with the people of the county, and as the interests of both are in a measure identical, they promote the general welfare and promote the general welfare and prosperity and should receive every encouragement for their continuance and large attendances. Make the country people feel that they are at home and welcome, help them to dispose of their stock and products, and neither they nor the merchants will regret that the streets of the city are almost impassable by the throngs that collect here once in every

The Bird of Freedom.

Many have doubtless seen pictures of eagles, and especially the imprint on silver coins, but the number who have seen this kingly bird alive may be said to be comparatively few. On county court day a Mr. Ratilfi. of Millville, on the Glen's Creek' road, was in the city with a fine specimen of the American eagle which he captured last fall near his home by shooting him in the wing and nursing him until he recovered. The bird measured seven and one half feet from tip to tip of wings. A gentleman from Cincinnal had written that he expected to be in the city and would purchase the bird for the Zoo, but as he failed to put in appearance Mr. Ratilf is old him for ten dollars to Mr. Fred Sutterlin, who has him on exhibition at his saloon on St. Clair street. Many have doubtless seen pletures

The German at the Capital Hotel ball-room Thursday night was a most brilliant event. Besides the resident young ladies and geptlemen there was a larger attendance of visitors than at any previous dance. The on-the colorers, also, among whom there were many visiting ladies, were more numerous than are usually present on such occasions. The revival of the gayeties after the long Lenten dearth seemed to open in this dance with double zest, which, with the brightest and most inspiring music by Prof. The German at the Capital Hotel and most inspiring music by Prof.
